(d) Cookies.

We use cookies to make interactions with our Services easy and meaningful. When you visit our Services, our servers may send a cookie to your computer. We may use cookies that are session-based or persistent. Session cookies exist only during one session. They disappear from your computer when you close your browser software or turn off your computer. Persistent cookies remain on your computer after you close your browser or turn off your computer. We use cookies that enable you to navigate our Services and use its features, such as accessing secure areas of our Services. Because required cookies are essential to operate our Services, there is no option to opt out of these cookies. We use cookies to provide features and services such as:

- Remembering your preferences and allowing you to enter your information less frequently; and
- Providing other services and features that are only available through the use of cookies.

The Options/Settings section of most internet browsers will tell you how to manage cookies and other technologies that may be transferred to your device, including how to disable such technologies. You can disable our cookies or all cookies through your browser settings, but please note that disabling cookies may impact some of our Services features and prevent the Services from operating properly.

We may use or engage a third party that uses Local Stored Objects (LSOs), sometimes referred to as “Flash Cookies,” and other technologies to collect and store information about your use of our Services. A flash cookie is a small data file placed on your device using Adobe Flash technology. Flash cookies are different from the cookies described above because cookie management tools provided in your browser will not remove them. We may use or engage a third party that uses session replay technology (with or without cookies) to record and analyze interactions with our Services. This technology captures your interactions with our application, including but not limited to, mouse movements, key strokes, clicks, and scrolling. It helps us gain insights into how users interact with our Services, identify usability issues, mitigate security threats, and improve the overall user experience.

The online advertising industry also provides websites from which you may opt out of receiving certain targeted ads from data partners and other advertising partners that participate in self-regulatory programs. You can access these and learn more about targeted advertising and consumer choice and privacy by visiting the Network Advertising Initiative (<https://optout.networkadvertising.org/>) and the Digital Advertising Alliance (<https://optout.aboutads.info/>).

(e) Do Not Track Signals.

We do not currently respond or take any action with respect to web browser “do not track” signals or other mechanisms that provide consumers the ability to exercise choice regarding the collection of information about an individual consumer’s online activities over time and across third-party websites or online services.

(f) Analytics Services.

We work with service providers (including, without limitation, Google Analytics) who conduct analytics to help us track and understand how visitors use our Sites. Google Analytics is a web analytics service provided by Google that uses cookies to help us analyze how users use our Sites. The information generated by the cookies about your use of the services will be transmitted to and stored by Google on servers in the United States. If you access the Sites through different devices, Google may associate your devices with one another. Google has developed the Google Analytics opt-out browser add-on for the Google Analytics JavaScript (ga.js, analytics.js, dc.js). You can prevent Google’s collection and use of the data it collects as defined in its policy by downloading and installing this browser plug-in: <https://tools.google.com/dlpage/gaoptout?hl=en-GB>. For more information about Google Analytics cookies, please see Google’s help pages (<https://support.google.com/analytics/answer/6004245>) and privacy policy (<https://www.google.com/intl/en/policies/privacy/>).

(g) Web Beacons and Similar Tracking Technologies.

When you visit our Services, we may collect your IP address for certain purposes such as, for example, to monitor the regions from which you navigate our Services. We may also use web beacons alone or in conjunction with cookies to compile information about your usage of our Services and interaction with emails from us. Web beacons are clear electronic images that can recognize certain types of information on your computer, such as cookies, when you viewed a particular site tied to the web beacon. We may use web beacons to operate and improve our Services. We may use other tracking technologies to collect other information, such as session replay information or recordings of communications, relating to you and your online activities.
